

Core latency distribution: raw boot samples

Violin width is a density estimate; dots are the retained measurements and bars are medians.